

Product Review

Newsflash: Carnivorous snails attack stranded trampers.

The rare giant Mokihinui carnivorous snail Smellia Gigantiesque, ~~re~~enraged by planned dam construction in its habitat has carried out a cunning plan for revenge.

A changed diet to vegeterianism (also reported to have enraged it further) led to enhanced gaseous emissions, triggering a rare climatic phenomenon ~~at~~ (known as the Annabel is cool system), resulting in extensive flooding leading to the stranding of several trampers.

The snails seized this opportunity to pounce, first shaking the tents to wake the trampers, then torturing them slowly by drinking all their wine in front of them before devouring them whole.

ROAR!
I will eat you!

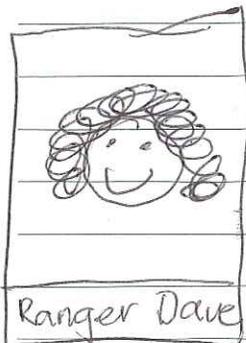

The rest of Local stores have run out of anti-snail spray.

Newsflash: Escaped prisoners sighted at Lyell campsite.

ANZCA ASM
Hobart 2003

Hotel Grand
Chancellor
3 - 6 May 2003

Ranger Dave

Ranger Dave, the Local campground ~~water~~ warden,
on his daily inspection of the Lyell campsite, ran in horror at the sight of eight feral and particularly smelly trampers, who matched identically the description of eight prisoners escaped from the Murchison

Challenged in the Mental Sense Centre (hoony bin is no longer PC). People are too scared to investigate further, but ~~the~~ ~~report~~ sightings
of the following people are to be reported immediately:

- 1- Stinky Sarah - recognisable by distinctive plod.
 - 2- Anacanda Anna-Marie - known for distinctive yellow footwear.
 - 3- Angry Alyn - recognised by gaseous emissions
 - 4- Gallivanting Guy - identified by Ranfurly smell
 - 5- Bendy Beth - never seen without wine in hand
 - 6- Fearsome Francis - metallic sheen is easy to spot.
 - 7- Mad Matt - rarely spotted because he's so far in front
 8. Amazing Annabel - well-respected for her awesomeness.
- These 8 members of the Slightly Damp and Seriously Smelly Gang are dangerous and should not be approached.

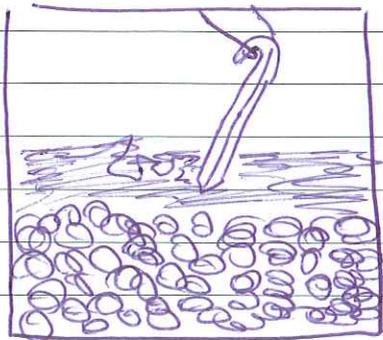

ANZCA ASM
Hobart 2003

Hotel Grand
Chancellor
3 - 6 May 2003

Ground landscape design Needs a Rethink.

The Lyell camp ground positioned in the idyllic valley looks over the Buller river.

However the ground design of the camp ground needs a rethink. The layer of delicate sludge on top does little to secure pegs or provide stable footing for campers. Rocks beneath also add to the problem. Health and safety expert professor Annabell Smelley Beattie said "The sludge is an accident waiting to happen. Someone will fall over and end up in a brown mess."

Creative Cooking Ideas for the Lyell Campground Shelter

ANZCA ASM
Hobart 2003

Hotel Grand
Chancellor
3 - 6 May 2003

These recipe ideas are ~~not~~ limited by the availability of ingredients.

1 - coffee bags, oil, surprise peas, chocolate, peanuts, milk powder.

Surprise pea surprise

Grind peanuts then stir in oil. Melt chocolate in a billy then add the oil mixture before stirring in coffee bags.

Wrap mixture around peas and allow to set in a possum proofed billy outside.
When you bite into them surprise!

2 - dehy mince, salt, wildberry tea, beans,
tequila.

Tequila shot surprise

Stir together mince, tea and beans. Use ▲ Lick your hand and apply salt. Have a tequila shot and then instead of lemon, surprise!

3 - crackers, tomato chutney, dried onions, beef mince
paste, barley sugars, Surprise crackers!

AstraZeneca

Crush barley sugars.
Mix with chutney, onion and paste. Spread on crackers. Appears tasty but surprise!

Community photos

ANZCA ASM
Hobart 2003

Hotel Grand
Chancellor
3 - 6 May 2003

Ms Beth Parkin
(Fashion extraordinaire)

Mr Francis Butler (Pensive concentrating writer)

Professor Annelise
Beattie (Health and safety expert)

Mr Guy Short (Plotting world domination in the corner)

AstraZeneca

West Coast Bird Sighting Sends Tourists on "Wild Goose Chase"

ANZCA ASM
Hobart 2003

Hotel Grand
Chancellor
3 - 6 May 2003

Police fear for the lives of 5 tourists searching the bush for a mystery bird near Murchison. Ornithologists ~~have~~ believe the bird described as "small and weka like" may be a moa. Heavy rains are hampering SAR police ^{rescuers} searchers who believe one tourist was equipped with only a butterfly net and half a mince pie. Police are considering calling off the search as they need time to get ready for this evening's Police Ball.

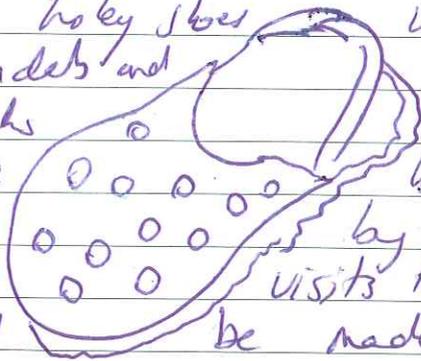

ANZCA ASM
Hobart 2003

Hotel Grand
Chancellor
3 - 6 May 2003

Fashion Capital @ Lyell

The city fashions have come to Lyell. Beth Parkin & Anna-Mare Miller have brought their practical yet stylish "holey shoes" to town. Ms Parkin said that her white holey shoes were "lighter than jandals and you could wear socks with them. Anna-Mare backed up this claim by explaining the ease that visits to the long drop could be made with the footwear.

Ms Miller's shoes were found in a jumping hut and Ms Parkin's shoes retail at $9.90 from Bivac. Be in quick catch the latest practical & stylish fashion